I fully support the removal of the morse code requirement. I think it's wrong to covet one mode above others for the sake of testing. If a barrier to HF access is needed we should look to more rigorous testing.

I also think if the morse code requirement is removed it will cause an explosion of HF capable amateurs, something we dearly need in these uncertain times.